MESSAGE FROM THE LANGARA COLLEGE FOUNDATION CHAIR

If 2020 was a year of uncertainty, then 2021 was a year of promise. One, where we united to weave a pathway forward, for the benefit of the Foundation and each other. The focus, determination, and strength to support our students has been truly admirable. Despite all the challenges COVID has thrown our way, the Langara community continues to uplift one another.

The launch of the College's new Strategic Plan ensured that every person in our community has a chance to grow and learn. With a promise to address challenges, while supporting new opportunities, the Foundation is proud to celebrate the diverse student population and provide accessible education for our community.

The Foundation's focus remained on supporting the growing needs of our students. The demand for Community Cupboard continued, with 2037 food bags distributed last year. Additionally, the holiday hamper program saw record numbers of students registering for assistance. The Foundation delivered on its commitment to these students by raising $157,577 to support over 76 student families and 745 individual students during the holidays.

Thanks to our valued donor community, the Foundation was able to adjust to this new normal and overcome any obstacles. We are now at the million-dollar mark for a third straight year, raising a record $1,650,142 in 2021. This is a remarkable achievement considering our economic and social climate. Once again, we were proud to increase the number of scholarships, bursaries, with 24 new awards created. The Foundation supported more than 840 students, distributing over $783,722 in financial aid in 2021.

Safeguarding student mental health during a challenging year was a key priority and the Foundation secured $25,000 from Bell 'Let's Talk' to implement a Peer Support Program within the College.

By December, we met our ambitious Studio 58 Seat Campaign goal to revitalize and refurbish the theatre. Work begins this coming Summer meaning our audience can watch Studio 58's Fall shows in comfort for years to come.

We may still be navigating the uncertain waters of this pandemic, but one thing remains steadfast: the unwavering commitment of our donors. It has been a privilege to witness the impact of our giving community and to create possibilities for our students.

On behalf of the Foundation board and staff, our heartfelt thanks for your ongoing support. We could not do this without you!

Weaving a shared future together with COVID enhanced student supports.

THE HAMPER PROGRAM

Our hamper program ran a record three times this year, due to student demand and through additional funding that was secured. We were proud to assist 1,866 students over 2021.

"I just wanted to pass on some thanks for the hampers we received this semester. This year has been a tough one, as an Indigenous person working and going to school in a pandemic... The support received through this hamper really helped to alleviate some of that stress, as it helped me with school supplies and groceries in the upcoming months."

– Individual Student Hamper Recipient

Over the holiday season, the community spread some much-needed joy to our community. College departments and our faculty and staff fundraised and came together to put together special holiday hampers for 76 of our student families.

The Foundation continues to build partnerships with the community and is always delighted to work with local businesses to expand and support our hamper program.

THE COMMUNITY CUPBOARD

The Community Cupboard is the on-campus food bank program that gives students the opportunity to access one week's worth of groceries, which provides approximately 21 healthy meals.

"Thank you for your generous donations. Knowing that I can pick up a bag at the Community Cupboard makes my life a little less stressful. The last few months have been particularly difficult, and I have felt stressed juggling school, rent and life in general. The food items you provide literally save me from going hungry!"

– Student – Community Cupboard Grocery Recipient

In 2021, the Community Cupboard provided 2037 bags or the equivalent of 42,777 meals for students. This would not have been possible without the help of our community including donors and suppliers such as the Y.P. Yeung Foundation, Save on Foods, Great Canadian Superstore, Weissach Limited, Khalsa Credit Union, Gagan Foods, Fruiticana, Nature's Path and The Protein Project.

GETTING A BETTER IMPACT WITH MYIMPACT - TRACKING OUR FUTURE VOLUNTEER LEADERS

Funding was deployed to the Office for Student Engagement to purchase and install a new software system called Better Impact. This specialized volunteer management software will support the VOLT program. Since VOLT began in 2010, 4,468 students have volunteered over 83,560 hours. This new system will track our students volunteer experiences online with more flexibility and accessibility, with real time access to our students. This will allow them to record and track their volunteer hours and to monitor how close they may be to qualify for one of the VOLT Recognition Awards.

THE CELEBRATION OF EXCELLENCE

The Celebration of Excellence event is held twice a year to celebrate our students' community, leadership, and academic achievements, community, and to thank our generous donors. The Foundation adapted to the changing landscape of COVID offering online and hybrid events.

Watch our celebratory video here honouring our Summer and Fall award recipients and view last Spring's celebration here.

STUDIO 58 SEAT CAMPAIGN

After years of wear and tear, the Studio 58 theatre seating was in dire need of replacement. To future-proof the theatre, it meant raising an ambitious goal of $180,000. In December, we not only met, but exceeded our target, bringing the total amount raised to $205,000!

As a result of our generous donor community, our theatre will be able to offer increased seating capacity and faculty will be able to reconfigure the theatre layout to best suit each performance. These additions will allow our students to have more room to study and prepare for their performances. Renovations will begin in the summer, ready for the Fall 2022 productions.

BELL 'LET'S TALK' PEER SUPPORT PROGRAM

The Foundation was awarded a $25,000 Kickoff Grant from the Bell Let's Talk Post-Secondary Fund to support the initial implementation of the National Standard of Canada for Mental Health and Well-Being for Post-Secondary Students (the "Standard").

The College used the grant to address student challenges such as feelings of isolation and loneliness, food and housing insecurities, and anxiety over an uncertain future holistically through a Peer-to-Peer wellness model, a key element of Langara's Mental Health Framework. We were delighted to address the specific gaps in student mental health support services and build new initiatives for our future leaders and beyond.

Indigenization and building legacies.

Preparing for the future also means honouring the past and with the College's commitment to weaving Indigenous ways of knowing into our community, our programs. The Foundation has focused on fundraising and supporting several projects this year to create a greater understanding of Truth and Reconciliation and to provide direct supports to our Indigenous learners.

BEING HUMAN-AN INTERDISCIPLINARY INDIGENOUS PROJECT

To support our commitment to Truth and Reconciliation, diversity, and inclusion, and in consideration of the tragic discoveries at Residential School sites this year, the Langara College Foundation supported the design of a new public art piece for campus. Led by Fine Arts Faculty members, Aaron Nelson-Moody and Suzi Webster, alumni Kelsey Sparrow and Indigenous artist and alumni Atheana Picha. The project has brought together students, faculty, and staff across campus, providing them an opportunity to participate in wood carving while creating a focal point for sharing conversations and connection.

Once completed in mid 2022, this public art piece will be installed on campus and will serve as a place for individuals to visit, to find solace, reflect on actions towards Reconciliation, or to create a conversation with others.

Working hands-on in this project, they have created a simple figure together, which may act as a template for further community-based projects and inspire place-based art pieces that will involve local stories, artists, youth, and Elders across the globe. The Being Human project presents a unique opportunity for our Langara community to participate in exploring in their own personal journeys to pursue a better understanding of Truth and Reconciliation, and to connect with our campus' Indigenous roots.

Langara celebrated a new collaboration with AFOA Canada (Aboriginal Financial Officers Association of Canada) and AFOA British Columbia to deliver a pilot cohort of AFOA Canada's Indigenous Financial Management Certificate. This unique partnership is the first of its kind for accounting education in BC and will provide a steppingstone approach to help Indigenous learners become accredited while staying connected to their communities.

Our long-standing partnership with the RBC Foundation and their commitment to support Indigenous students at Langara resulted in operationalizing the incredible $100,000 donation received in 2021 towards the College's Gathering Space and student support programs. This included funding for a Learning Strategist who provides Indigenous learners with one-on-one support; a laptop borrowing program to address a lack of access to computers; and a career readiness course supplemented with one-on-one support. The impact of this new course has already been felt with the first cohort offering feedback on their experiences with the program.

"The Job Search Success Course contextualized what we're doing right now so we can see the path, and the bigger picture. I'm excited to know what this can do for me."

– Alicia, Aboriginal Studies student.

"The instructor emphasized telling our personal stories and attaching them to what we want to do. Making connections and identifying where I want to work is going to be a great strategy."

– Blair, Kinesiology student.

Scholarships and bursaries – supporting students.

Scholarships and bursaries provide vital financial support for our students. As one of the most accessible post-secondary institutions in British Columbia, Langara makes education possible for everyone. Here are just some of the new awards that have been created in 2021.

LEGACIES IN JOURNALISM

While we remembered the amazing alumni writers & editors this past year, their families and friends established meaningful legacies that will impact our students as they set out on their academic journey.

- The Ross Howard Ethics in Journalism Award was set up in memory of Ross Howard, a former Faculty Member of the Journalism department. This award recognizes writers who demonstrate strong ethics in their practice across the field of journalism.
- An endowed award was set up in memory of Shelley Fralic, a renowned Journalist for the Vancouver Sun. The Shelley Fralic Fund will support two awards, a bursary to support journalism students in financial need as well as an award to recognize outstanding editing.
- Fellow Vancouver Sun Reporter and former Langara Faculty of Journalism Instructor, Rick Ouston, was remembered with the Rick Ouston Memorial Bursary. This endowed bursary will remove financial barriers while our students' study at Langara.
- To honour the life of Langaran, Lee Bacchus, the Lee Bacchus Journalism Award was created and will provide tuition to a mature student entering the journalism program.

SUPPORTING INDIGENOUS STUDENTS

This year saw an increased focus to create new awards to support Indigenous students at Langara. Five new awards were established providing financial support and recognizing Indigenous students for their academic achievement and community involvement. Thank you to the following donors:

- Langara College Board member, Janelle Dwyer, in partnership with her law firm Mandell Pinder LLP created the endowed award, The Mandell Pinder Indigenous Education Scholarship. This award will honour Indigenous students achieving high academic standing.
- Established donor, Dave Scanlan created an additional award for our students as part of a legacy commitment. The Eagle View Indigenous Student Bursary was created as an entrance bursary to provide financial support to Indigenous students coming to Langara.
- Local business, Native Northwest Publishing set up two awards: the Native Northwest Reconciliation Award for Musqueam Students and the Native Northwest Reconciliation Award.

The financial support available to students continued to grow in 2021 with focus remaining on bursaries to assist students through the pandemic.

Unitarian Church

A College neighbour and community member, the Unitarian Church of Vancouver, established the K&A Koerner Fund to support our diverse and the underrepresented communities that Langara serves. The new fund consists of four new bursaries:

- R&A Koerner Foundation Community Indigenous Bursary
- R&A Koerner Foundation Community Diversity Bursary
- R&A Koerner Foundation Community Student with a Disability Bursary
- R&A Koerner Foundation Community Single Parent Bursary

UCV receives an annual grant from the Robert and Anna Koerner Foundation Community Fund (RAKFCF) which is held by the Vancouver Foundation (VF). Each year, UCV awards grants to registered charities and in 2021 they selected Langara College Foundation to fund annual grants of $10,000 for three years for further education of youth in financial need.

"UCV places great emphasis on encouraging young people to develop their full potential so as to become active and contributing members of our society. One of the ways to accomplish this is to help alleviate the financial stress of obtaining a good education by providing bursaries to young students. These bursaries will assist those in financial need, such as students with disabilities and single parents and students from marginalised groups. We are happy to provide such support to our neighbour, Langara College."

– Lara Cowtan, UCV's Rev.

Honouring Harry Lendvoy's 50 years at Langara.

In the fall 2021, Langara celebrated Harry Lendvoy's 50 years of teaching at the College with a celebration of his career and community achievements. Harry has been instrumental in the development of the Kinesiology department and taught more than 12,000 students in his 50 years as an instructor. Beyond the classroom, Langara students also felt his impact as the head coach of the Falcon's men's soccer team from 1973 - 1979.

Beyond Langara, Harry has been a pioneer for Sport Medicine in British Columbia; a founding board member of SportsMed BC, and in 2004 became one of only ten of their honorary members. He also created the BC Sports First Aid Program and later expanded the program to include fitness leaders. Harry was also both a National Coaching Certification Program Master Course Conductor, as well as a Learning Facilitator, providing coaches across BC with education tools and resources for more than 30 years.

To commemorate his career and this momentous milestone, our community honoured Harry by creating an award in his name. This award is designed to recognize a kinesiology student who is committed to a career in sports medicine. Thank you to the many donors who contributed. Learn more about Harry and his accomplishments here.
